World Banks project of Biotechnical Faculty in Podgorica and its partners: Valorizing the Montenegrin Katuns through sustainable development of agriculture and tourism –KATUN

From the aspects of forests and forestry, the project activities will be focused on study of forest biodiversity, primarily in Pinus heldreichii forests at Kuči mountains, as well as on medicinal herbs and fungi. Objective of the work is to research and document the fungal biodiversity and valorise non-wood forest products to develop guidelines for their sustainable use and best management practice.
